

With the completion of our 22nd week the final week of camp has finally arrived. 19 individuals have come together, soon to join a part of the thin blue line as brothers and sisters. Throughout this time, we have each overcome obstacles and personal battles; we have grown in experience not only independently but as a team. The class went through many changes during our time at the Training Academy. One thing that has not changed, and will forever stay with us is our class motto, "For it our duty."

We chose this career path not only for ourselves, but for our friends, families, and neighbors; to express the rights of each Nebraskan the best way possible. It will soon be our privilege to be a part of making roads and communities safer. Our many hours of training, and wide variety of classes can now be combined for us to carry out our duties as Nebraska State Troopers.

Over the past several months, many sworn and non-sworn instructors have dedicated their time to teach us the skills and techniques we must acquire to become Law Enforcement Officers. We give thanks to each of them for devoting their time and providing us our education. Camp 57 was also blessed with 16 TAC Officers. Each TAC adjusted to the camp's needs in order to correct our deficiencies and help us to continue our growth as Recruits. It is now our chance to uphold the standard of the Nebraska State Patrol, for not only those who came before us, but for those who will come after us.

For It Is Our Duty
